Developments at Haldane

Brian Harrison informs us of changes to the Haldane HD-100 Austin Healey replica. It seems that due to the increasing difficulty in locating sound Chevette donor parts, a move has been made to Ford running gear. The new models will be known as the HD-100 and HD-300, the latter in "Works Rally" style.

Both cars use a fully triangulated backbone chassis, with wishbone suspension and Ford components throughout. The bodyshells remain basically the same, but with new moulds allowing a gelcoat finish, including two-tone as was popular with the original cars. Those building on a budget can fit Ford 2 litre Pinto or Toyota 1.6 twin cam engines, both available with 5 speed boxes. Those aiming to utilise the full potential of the Haldane can opt for the Sierra twin cam with fuel injection as will be supplied in the fully built Haldane cars. Haldane are at 3 Rossendale Way, Blantyre, Glasgow, G72 0NJ. Tel 0698 826950.
